

Saturday, March 29, 2008

Relocation Astrology Workshop

1-5:30 PM

Presenter: Joseph Crane

At Providence Community Acupuncture

144 Waterman St. #2, Providence

$50

Some of the most interesting astrology work done today is in the area of relocation. Only in the modern era, with its easy transportation and communication worldwide, can we seriously consider astrology of place. Relocational astrology is to place what electional astrology is to time -- what are the best areas for different endeavors -- profession, relationship, settling down, retiring, vacationing?

We'll work with different methods for judging location: adjusting the natal Ascendant and Midheaven for different places noting aspects and midpoints; using astrocartography maps to give lines of planetary influence; and local space astrology -- to answer what are the best directions from a birthplace for different activities of life.

We will use these methods with "notable nativities", and personal charts. If you would like, we could use you as a case example. Just give me the information ahead of time.

Last month our newsletter contained an article on relocational astrology: Check our website at www.astrologyinstitute.com.

For more information or to register, contact Meredith McBride by e-mail at mer_mcbride@yahoo.com or call Joseph at (401) 527-2035 before March 14 and after March 23.

Joseph Crane has been practicing astrology for twenty years. Co-founded Astrology Institute in 1991, which offers certificate and counseling training programs. He is the author of two books on traditional astrology and numerous articles on traditional and modern astrology. Is on the faculty of Kepler College. Currently lives in Bristol, RI; he sees clients and offers astrology classes in Rhode Island and Eastern Mass.